How we work

After taking hundreds of photos at a wedding, we carefully sort out your images, we call this the 'edit'. If you order a disc, the edit is included automatically. Also on your disc you will receive all the other photos shot at your wedding - they will be in a separate folder for you to view, print or order from.

If your package includes a print option but no disc, the 'edit' are the ones we print. Any additional photos can easily be viewed and ordered later from contact proofs.

Photographs are normally produced in a mixture of black and white and colour.

You can choose to add an album and/or a disc of high resolution images before or after your wedding.
